

Reading I for Thirty-First Sunday in Ordinary Time

Year C

Wisdom 11:23–12:2

L écti-o libri Sapi-énti-æ.

D ómine, tamquam moméntum statéræ, sic est ante te orbis terrárum, et tamquam gutta roris antelucáni, quæ descéndit in terram.

Sed miseréris ómni-um, qui-a ómni-a potes, et dissímulas peccáta hó-minum propter pæni-ténti-am. Dí-ligis enim ómni-a quæ sunt, et nihil odísti e-órum quæ fecísti, nec enim ódi-ens á-liquid constitu-ísti aut fecísti. Quomodo autem posset a-liquid permanere ni-si tu volu-isses?

aut, quod a te vocátum non esset, conservarétur? Parcís autem ómni-bus, quóni-am tu-a sunt, Dómine, qui amas ánimas. O quam bonus et su-ávis est, Dómine, spí-ritus tu-us in ómnibus! Ide-óque e-os qui exérrant pártibus córripis et, de quibus peccant, ádmones et allóqueris, ut, re-lícta ma-lí-ti-a, credant in te, Dómine.

℣. Verbum Dómini. ℞. De-o grá-ti-as.