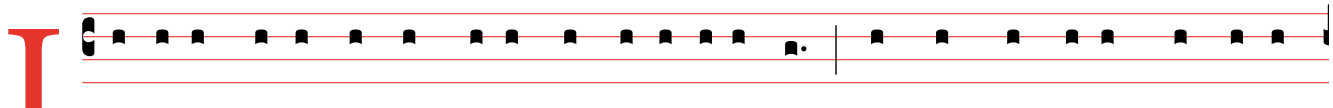
Sir 27:33–28:9

Lécti-o libri Sirácidæ



I-ra et furor útraque exsecrabí-li-a sunt, et vir peccátor cóntinens erit illórum. Qui vindicári vult, a Dómino invéni-et vindíctam, et peccáta illí-us servans servábit. Re-línque próximo tu-o nocénti te, et tunc deprecánti tibi peccáta solvéntur. ¿Homo hómini resérvat iram et a De-o quærit medélam? ¿in hóminem símí-lem sibi non habet misericórdi-am et de peccá-tis su-is deprecátur? ¿Ipse, cum caro sit, resérvat iram et propi-ti-a-ti-ónem pe-tit a De-o? ¿quis exorábit pro de-líctis illí-us? Meménto novissimórum et désine inimicári; tabitúdo enim et mors ímminent in mandá-tis eius. Memoráre timórem De-i et non irascáris próximo. Memoráre testaméntum Altíssimi et déspice ignoránti-am próximi.

℣. Verbum Dómini. ℟. De-o grá-ti-as.
