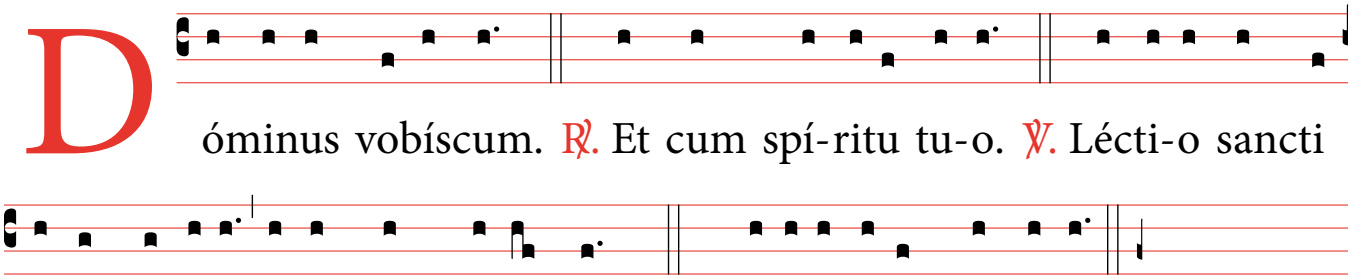
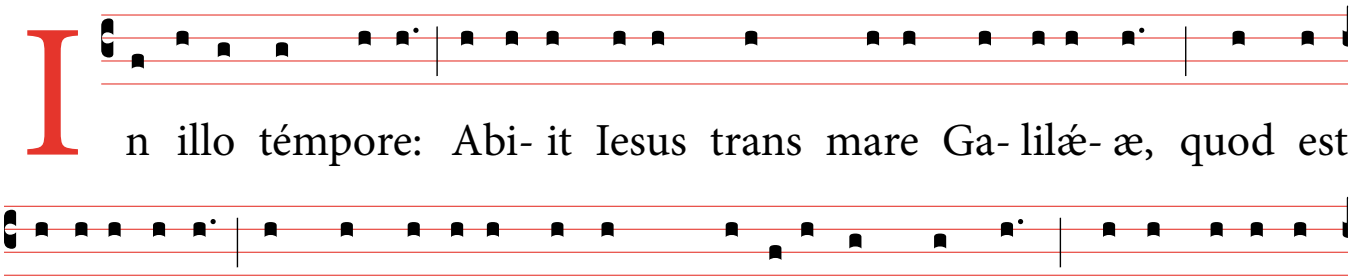
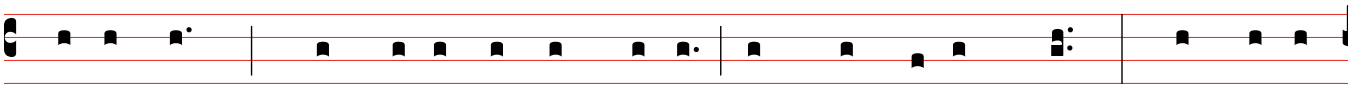
EVANGELIUM

N. 4 · Tonus ad libitum

Io 6:1–15







Phi- líppum: « ¿Unde emémus panes, ut mandúcent hi? » Hoc autem dicébat tentans e-um, ipse enim sci-ébat quid esset factúrus. Respóndit e- i Phi- líppus: « Ducentórum denari- órum panes non suffíci- unt e- is, ut unusquísque módicum quid accí- pi- at ». Dicit e- i unus ex discípu- lis eius, André- as, frater Simónis Petri: « Est pu- er hic qui habet quinque panes horde- áce- os et du- os pisces; ¿sed hæc quid sunt inter tantos? » Dixit Iesus: « Fáci- te hómines discúmbere ». Erat autem fenum multum in loco. Discubu- érunt ergo vi- ri, número quasi quinque mí- li- a. Accépit ergo panes Iesus et, cum grá- ti- as egísset, distríbu-it discumbéntibus, simí-li-ter et ex píscibus, quantum vo-lébant. Ut autem implé-ti sunt, dixit discípu-lis su-is: « Collígi-te quæ superavérunt fragménta, ne quid pér-e-at ». Collegérunt ergo et implevérunt du-ódecim cóphinos fragmentórum ex quinque pánibus horde-áce-is, quæ superfu-érunt his qui manducavé-runt. Illi ergo hómines cum vidíssent quod Iesus fécerat signum, dicébant: « Hic est vere prophéta, qui venit in mundum ». Iesus ergo, cum cognovísset qui-a ventúri essent ut ráperent e-um et fácerent e-um regem, secéssit í-terum in montem ipse solus.
