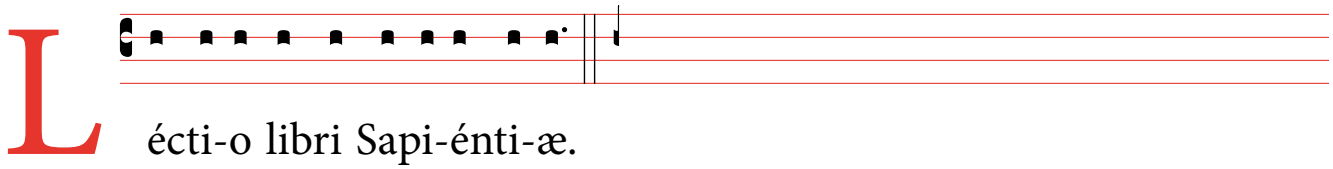
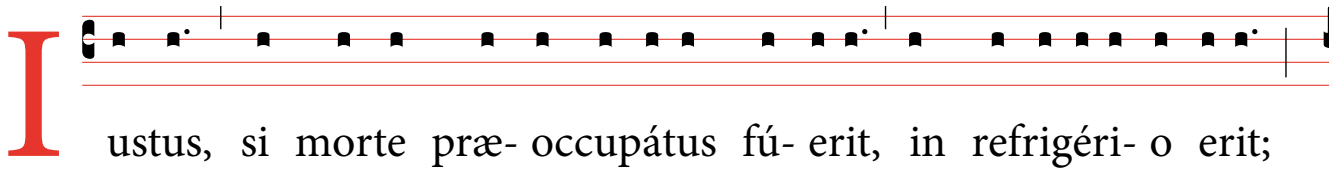
Reading I for the Mass for the Dead

3

Wisdom 4:7–15



Lécti-o libri Sapi-énti-æ.



Iustus, si morte præ- occupátus fú- erit, in refrigéri- o erit; senéctus enim venerábi-lis est non di-utúrna neque annórum número computáta; cani autem sunt sensus hóminis, et ætas senectútis vi- ta immaculáta. Placens De-o factus est di-léctus, et vivens inter peccatóres translátus est: raptus est, ne ma- lí- ti- a mutáret intelléctum eius, aut ne fícti- o decíperet ánimam illí- us; fasciná- ti- o enim nugaci- tá- tis obscúrat bona, et inconstánti- a concupiscénti- æ transvértit sensum sine ma-lí-ti-a. Consummátus in brevi explévit témpora multa; pláci-ta enim erat De-o ánima illí-us, propter hoc properávit edúcere illum de médi-o iniqui-tátum. Pópu-li autem vidéntes et non intellegéntes, nec ponéntes in præcórdi-is tá-li-a, quóni-am grá-ti-a De-i et misericórdi-a est in sanctos eius et respéctus in e-léctos illí-us.

℣. Verbum Dómini. ℟. De-o grá-ti-as.