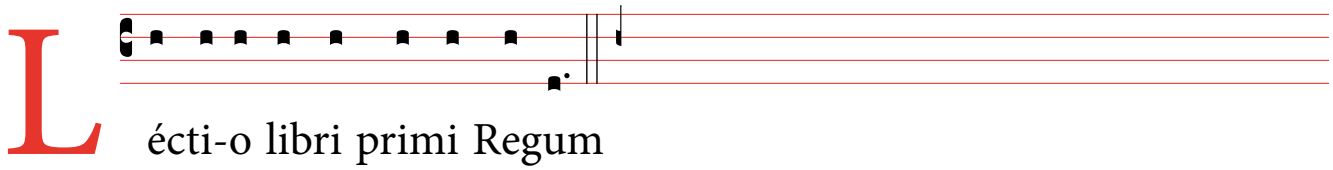
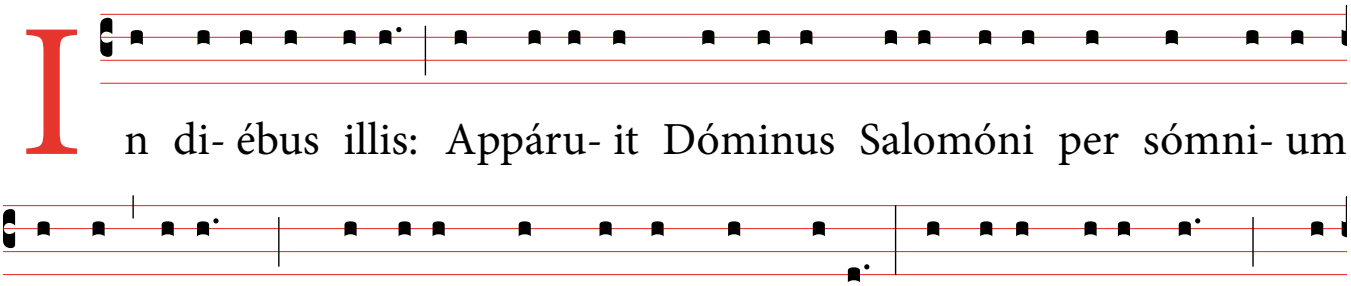
Reading I for Seventeenth Sunday in Ordinary Time

Year A

1 Kings 3:5–12



Lécti-o libri primi Regum



In di-ébus illis: Appáru-it Dóminus Salomóni per sómni-um nocte, dicens: « Póstula quod vis ut dem tibi ». Et a-it Sálomon: « Tu fecísti cum servo tu-o David, patre me-o, misericórdi-am magnam, sicut ambulávit in conspéctu tu-o in veri-táte et iustí-ti-a et recto corde tecum; custodísti e-i misericórdi-am tu-am grandem, et dedísti e-i fí-li-um sedéntem super thronum eius, sicut est hódi-e. Et nunc, Dómine De-us, tu regnáre fecísti servum tu-um pro David, patre me-o.

Ego autem sum pu-er párvulus, et ignórans egréssum et intró-itum me-um; et servus tu-us in médi-o est pópu-li quem e-legísti, pópu-li infiní-ti, qui numerári et supputári non potest præ multitúdine.

Dabis ergo servo tu-o cor dóci-le, ut pópulum tu-um iudicáre possit et discérnere inter bonum et malum. ¿Quis enim póterit iudicáre pópulum istum, pópulum tu-um hunc multum? » Plácu-it ergo sermo coram Dómino, quod Sálomon postulásset huiuscémodi rem. Et dixit

Dóminus Salomóni: « Qui-a postulásti verbum hoc, et non pe-tísti tibi di- es multos, nec diví- ti- as, aut ánimas inimicórum tu- órum, sed postulásti tibi sapi-énti-am ad discerníndum iudíci-um, ecce feci tibi secúndum sermónes tu-os, et dedi tibi cor sápi-ens et intéllegens, in tantum ut nullus ante te símí-lis tu-i fú-erit nec post te surrectúrus sit ».

℣. Verbum Dómini. ℟. De-o grá-ti-as.