Gospel for Eleventh Sunday in Ordinary Time

Year B

Mark 4:26–34

Tonus Antiquior

Dóminus vobíscum. ℟. Et cum spí-ritu tu-o. ℣. Lécti-o sancti Evangé-li-i secúndum Marcum. ℟. Glóri-a tibi, Dómine.

In illo témpore: Dicébat Iesus turbis: « Sic est Regnum De-i, quemádmodum si homo iáci-at seméntem in terram et dórmi-at et exsúrgat nocte ac di-e, et semen gérminet et incréscat dum nescit ille. Ultro terra fructí-ficat, primum herbam, de-índe spicam, de-índe plenum fruméntum in spica. Et cum se prodúxerit fructus, sta-tim mittit falcem, quóni-am adest messis ». Et dicébat: « ¿Quómodo assimi-lábimus Regnum De-i, aut in qua parábola ponémus illud?

Sicut granum sinápis, quod cum seminátum fú-erit in terra, minus est ómnibus semínibus quæ sunt in terra, et cum seminátum fú-erit, ascéndit et fit maius ómnibus holéribus et facit ramos magnos, i-ta ut possint sub umbra eius aves cæli habi-táre ». Et tá-libus multis parábo-lis loquebátur e-is verbum, pro-ut póterant audíre; sine parábola autem non loquebátur e-is, se-órsum autem discípu-lis su-is disserébat ómni-a.

℣. Verbum Dómini. ℟. Laus tibi, Christe.