Gospel for Twenty-Sixth Sunday in Ordinary Time

Year B

Mark 9:38–42, 44, 46–47

Tonus Antiquior

Dóminus vobíscum. ℟. Et cum spí-ritu tu-o. ℣. Lécti-o sancti Evangé-li-i secúndum Marcum. ℟. Glóri-a tibi, Dómine.

In illo témpore: Dixit ad Iesum Io- ánnes: « Magíster, vídimus quemdam in Nómine tu- o e- ici- éntem dæmóni- a, et prohibebámus e- um, qui- a non sequebátur nos ». Iesus autem a- it: « No- lí- te prohibére e-um. Nemo est enim qui fáci-at virtútem in Nómine me-o et possit cito male loqui de me; qui enim non est advérsum nos, pro nobis

est. Quisquis enim potum déderit vobis cá-licem aquæ in Nómine, qui-a Christi estis, amen dico vobis: Non perdet mercédem su-am.

Et quisquis scanda-lizáverit unum ex his pusíllis credéntibus in me, bonum est e-i magis ut circumdétur mola asinári-a collo eius et in mare mittátur. Et si scanda-lizáverit te manus tu-a, abscíde illam: bonum est tibi débi-lem intro-íre in vi-tam, quam du-as manus habéntem ire in gehénnam, in ignem inexstinguíbi-lem. Et si pes tu-us te scanda-lízat, ámputa illum: bonum est tibi claudum intro-íre in vi-tam, quam du-os pedes habéntem mitti in gehénnam. Et si óculus tu-us scanda-lízat te, é- ice e- um: bonum est tibi luscum intro- íre in Regnum De- i, quam du- os óculos habéntem mitti in gehénnam, ubi vermis e- órum non móritur et ignis non exstínguitur ».

℣. Verbum Dómini. ℟. Laus tibi, Christe.