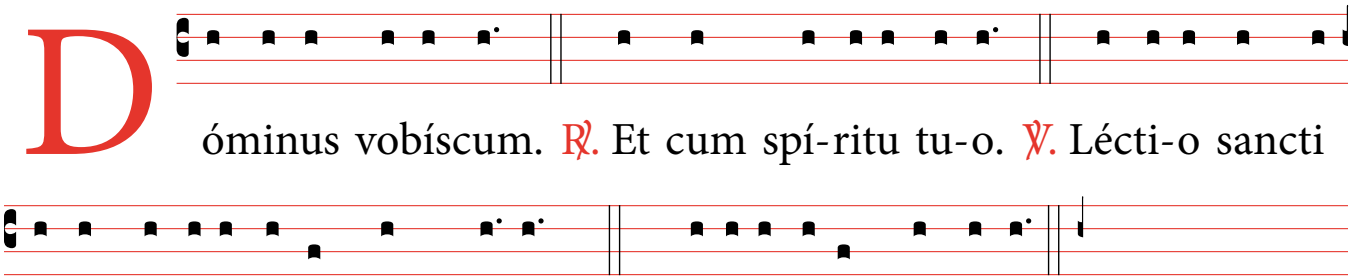
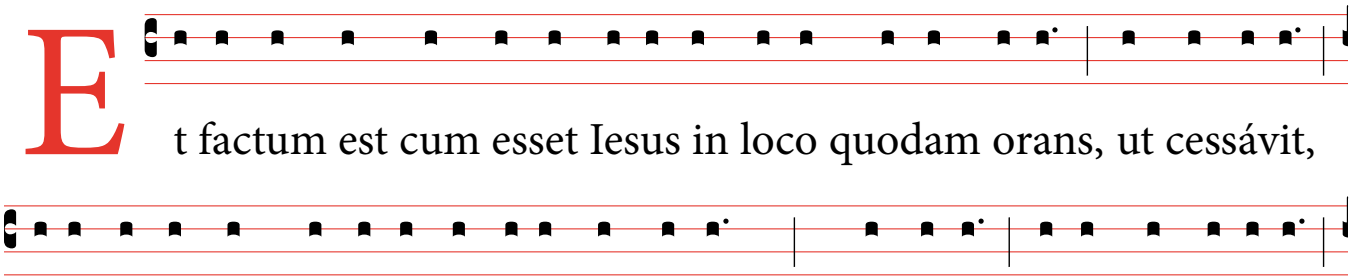
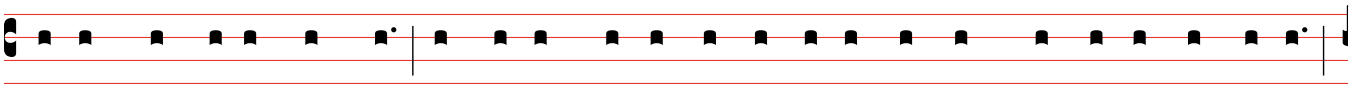
Luke 11:1–13

Tonus Evangelii







nobis peccáta nostra, síquidem et ipsi dimíttimus omni debénti nobis, et ne nos indúcas in tenta-ti-ónem ”». Et a-it ad illos: « Quis vestrum habébit amícum et ibit ad illum médi-a nocte, et dicet illi: “ Amice, cómmoda mihi tres panes, quóni-am amicus me-us venit de vi-a ad me et non hábe-o quod ponam ante illum ”; et ille de intus respóndens dicat: “ No-li mihi moléstus esse; iam ósti-um clausum est, et pú-eri me-i mecum sunt in cubí-li; non possum súrgere et dare tibi ”.

Dico vobis: “ Etsi non dabit illi surgens, e-o quod amícus eius sit, propter improbi-tátem tamen eius surget et dabit illi quotquot habet necessári-os ”. Et ego vobis dico: “ Pé-ti-te et dábitur vobis; quǽri-te et inveni-é-tis; pulsáte et aperi-étur vobis. Omnis enim qui pe-tit, áccipit, et qui quærit, invenit, et pulsánti aperi-étur. ¿Quem autem ex vobis patrem fí-li-us pe-tí-erit piscem, numquid pro pisce serpéntem dabit illi? Aut si pe-tí-erit ovum, ¿numquid pórriget illi scorpi-ónem?

Si ergo vos, cum si-tis ma-li, nostis bona dare fí-li-is vestris, quanto magis Pater de cælo dabit Spí-ritum Sanctum petén-tibus se! ”».

℣. Verbum Dómini. ℟. Laus tibi, Christe.
