Reading I for Twenty-Third Sunday in Ordinary Time

Year C

Wisdom 9:13–19

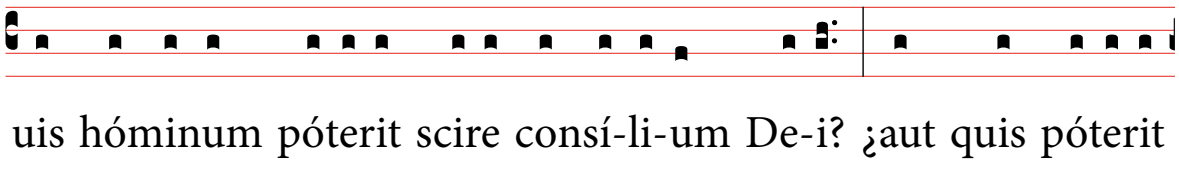
Lécti-o libri Sapi-énti-æ.



Quis hóminum póterit scire consí-li-um De-i? ¿aut quis póterit cogi-táre quid ve-lit De-us? Cogi-ta-ti-ónes enim mortá-li-um tímidæ, et incértæ providénti- æ nostræ: corpus enim quod corrúmpitur, ággravat ánimam, et terréna inhabi- tá- ti- o déprimit sensum multa cogi- tántem. Et diffíci- le æstimámus quæ in terra sunt, et quæ in prospéctu sunt invenímus cum labóre; quæ autem in cælis sunt ¿quis investigábit? Sensum autem tu-um quis sci-et, ni-si tu déderis sapi-énti-am, et míseris spí-ritum sanctum tu-um de altíssimis, et sic corréctæ sint sémitæ e-órum qui sunt in terris, ¿et quæ tibi placent didícerint hómines? Nam per sapi-énti-am saná-ti sunt quicúmque placu-érunt tibi, Dómine, a princípi-o.

℣. Verbum Dómini. ℟. De-o grá-ti-as.
