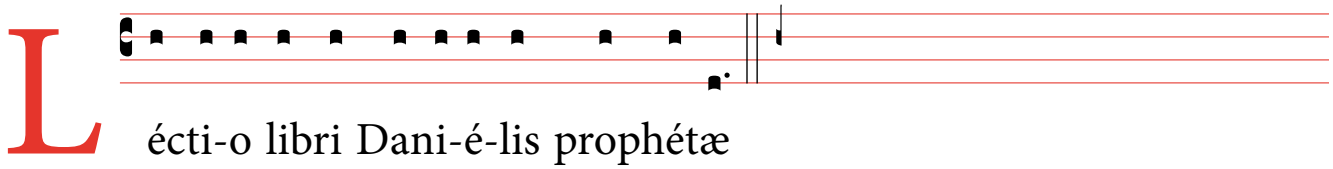
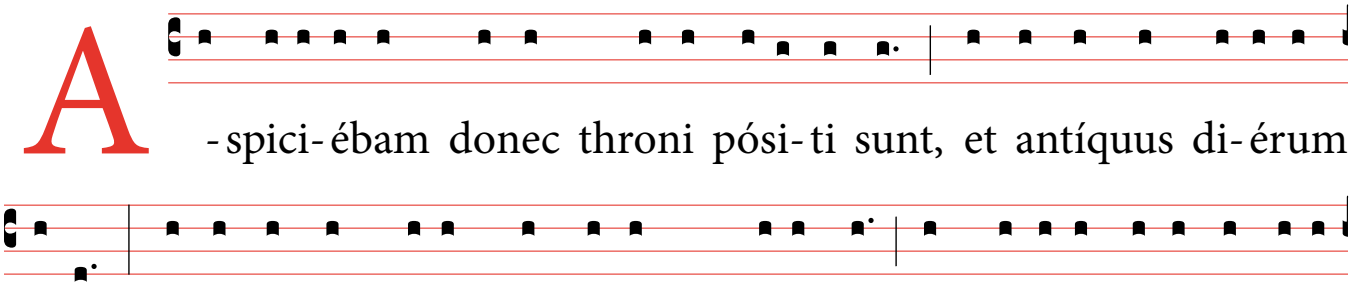
Reading I for Feast of the Transfiguration of the Lord

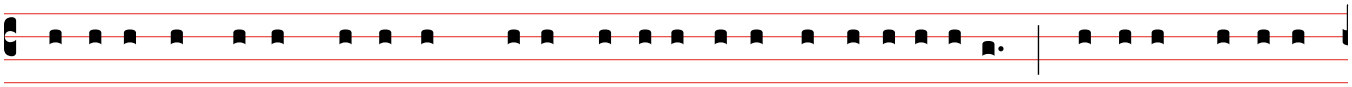
Daniel 7:9–10, 13–14



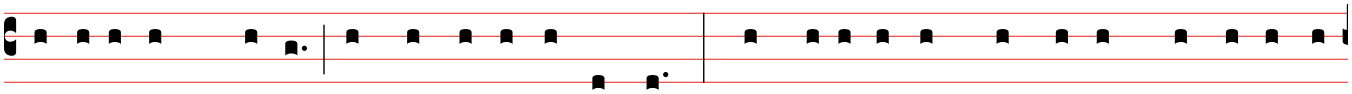
Lécti-o libri Dani-é-lis prophétæ



A-spici-ébam donec throni pósi-ti sunt, et antíquus di-érum sedit. Vestiméntum eius cándidum quasi nix, et capílli cápi-tis eius quasi lana munda; thronus eius flammæ ignis, rotæ eius ignis accénsus.



Flúvi-us ígne-us rapidúsque egredi-ebátur a fáci-e eius; mí-li-a mí-li-um ministrábant e-i, et déci-es mí-li-es centéna mí-li-a assistébant e-i.



Iudíci-um sedit, et libri apérti sunt. Aspici-ábam ergo in vi-si-óne noctis, et ecce cum núbibus cæli quasi fí-li-us hóminis veni-ébat, et usque ad antíquum di-érum pervénit. Et in conspéctu eius obtulérunt

e- um, et dedit e- i potestátem et honórem et regnum, et omnes pópu-li, tribus et linguæ ipsi sérvi-ent; potéstas eius, potéstas ætérna, quæ non auferétur, et regnum eius, quod non corrumpétur.

℣. Verbum Dómini. ℟. De-o grá-ti-as.